That was a very touching incident—that of the little school girl who refused to define the word clown as a low, vulgar fellow, and for her truthfulness, was punished with the ferrule and detained in play hours, all to no reformatory end The little child a father proved to be a clown in a circus

A sturdy old Democrat from the San Joaquin Valley who can't masticate Greeley was in Vallejo August 13th He says that he can mount his horse at his residence in the valley, and in less than one hour ride to the dwellings of 50 other of the unsmirched who won't swallow Greeley under any consideration

Prince Bismarck's opposition to the marriage of General von Schweinitz, the German ambassador at the court of Vienna, and Miss Jay, the daughter of our minister at the same court, has been overcome It is said to have its origin in a reluctance to give any lady an opportunity of learning state secrets, as the famous "Lesdom Note" of 1866 was divulged by a lady

POLITICAL NOTES

Henry M Rice of Minnesota, Democratic United States Senator from that State from 1857 to 1863, has declared his intention to support Grant and Wilson

The Springfield (Mass) Republican (Greeley) speaking of Gratz Brown's drunkenness, says If Brown does not back out or is not kicked out, Mr Greeley will lose thousands of votes in consequence of his associate's disgraceful condition at New Haven"

Congress appropriated $150,000 with which to buy the rebel archives Grant got them for half the money and the hungry office seeking organs call it a steal If he would donate half his salary to the Government they would call it highway robbery because he did not distribute it among them in the interest of reform

The New Orleans Republican says We can guess what made Banks come out for Greeley Dick Taylor wrote him a love letter couched in about these words My dear old Quartermaster —If you don't help us to regain the Lost Cause by supporting old Horace I'll blow that Red river cotton speculation you Dutch Yours Liberal Dick

Says the New Haven Journal Christopher C Brand, of Norwich member of the Democratic State Committee has declared for Grant and that quite a number of the most prominent Democrats of that city including Theodore F Raymond, a heavy shipping merchant, ex Mayor Carew a partner of Gen Buckingham in the rubber business, James M Meach, cashier of the Norwich bank Dr Charles Osgood wholesale druggist, have declared they will not vote for Greeley

Sour Grapes

Some of the Democratic papers profess to be of opinion that the result in North Carolina amounts to little after all They don't care for the Governor since they have the Legislature But this is the way in which the Raleigh correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing August 7, puts in

A stranger arriving in Raleigh to day, would suppose that some dreadful calamity had befallen the city The people have returned to their places with long faces and sad hearts The telegraph office, which for a week has been thronged almost to suffocation is almost deserted The operators who have been working night and day until they are entirely exhausted are relieved and business has returned to its accustomed channels The coolest among the Conservatives did not finally give up the State until this morning The news of last evening was very discouraging but Merriman's election still seemed possible while the majority against him, as far as reported, was only 300 or 400, with several western counties to hear from, and the returns from many others to be corrected But when by mail and telegraph the official votes of nearly half the counties in the State came in this morning and swelled Caldwell's majority to more than 1 000 votes they were forced to give up and admit the Administration triumph

THE TERRITORIES

Captain Dawson of the United States coast survey is still at work on Puget Sound

Washington Territory wants a statute to punish the bachelors who marry the schoolmarms as fast as they arrive in the Territory

A party of surveyors belonging to the N P R R were on the north side of the Columbia, opposite the Dalles last week setting stakes

J P Jackson Land has been appointed agent for the receiving of applications for lands of the Northern Pacific Railroad in the Walla Walla Land District

An opposition Postoffice has been opened at Steilacoom It seems that the Postmaster there won't distribute papers when they are carried by extra boats, hence an opposition Postoffice which will do it

Beriah Brown in the Seattle Dispatch, figures out that Greeley will be elected sure Beriah should offer his services to the Liberal National Committee They would be willing to pay for such figures as his

On Saturday, the 10th inst, while the Sound steamer was off Cape Flattery, a coal passer, named Fitzpatrick, cut his throat with a knife and died two hours after He was taken to Victoria, and there buried

An Olympia paper speaking of the Puget Sound telegraph, says Six miles of telegraph poles, from Port Townsend, have been put up, and the work is being pushed rapidly forward The machinery for six offices and the wire and cable for the entire line to Seattle has been ordered. The superintendent, Mr Sweeney, proposes to span Hood's Canal, about one mile above Port Gamble, instead of laying a cable The distance is one and a half miles Poles 400 feet high are to be used

William Lloyd Garrison on Sumner

On the 3d of August William Lloyd Garrison addressed a sharp letter of something more than two columns to Senator Sumner, in reply to his letter to the colored citizens of the country It is dated at Boston The following is an extract

In nothing of courage and vigilance, of zeal and fidelity in securing equal rights for the colored race has your respected colleague Senator Henry Wilson, been outstripped by you, and no member of Congress has done more for them Nay, long before you were seen or known in opposition to slavery, he was actively engaged in the noble strife under the banner of immediate and unconditional emancipation. During thirty six years of public life he has made the freedom of the race, so long pelted and trodden down, paramount to all other political considerations Instead of persistently shunning anti-slavery meetings, he was a frequent attendant upon them, and freely participated in their proceedings Now that he has been deservedly nominated by the Republican party for the Vice Presidency of the United States, and if elected may possibly, in the turn of events, be the acting President, it should be a matter of pride and gratitude on the part of colored voters to give him their united suffrages

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING AUGUST 20 1872

Immigration

There seems to be a general expectation that the Legislature at the coming session will take some steps to encourage immigration among us It is thought that efforts in this direction can be best made through the agency of a State Board Petitions for the creation and support of such Board are widely circulated and are receiving many signatures Beyond doubt a reasonable expenditure of money by the State in this behalf would be reimbursed speedily by the increase of prosperity and the general development of industries By an increase of the aggregate wealth of the State which would thus be brought about the basis of general taxation would soon be much enlarged and the State would recover its expenditure multiplied four fold

A Board of Immigration could not be expected to pay outright the expense of bringing people to the State but its agency in directing the attention of people hither securing for them cheap fares, and in directing them to cheap lands would be invaluable As a means of scattering abroad both in our Eastern States and throughout Europe information concerning Oregon and ways of getting here it would be highly useful and if managed rightly eminently successful For there are multitudes who need only to have their attention turned in this direction They will come readily if they can obtain authenticated information concerning the State its advantages and resources A want exists here which our Legislature can supply

An industrial population brought into the State will, in a short space of time develop ten to twenty times the wealth among us that may be expended to assist in getting them here It behooves people who have forecast enough to look a year or two ahead to consider this subject and to work for the results desired

Charles Sumner

The letter of William Lloyd Garrison to Charles Sumner (we regret that the length of this letter precludes the publication of it entire in our columns), is by far the ablest review of the present political situation that has yet appeared It cuts every inch of ground from under Sumner's feet and demolishes utterly the unsound reasoning on which he has, in so many elaborate speeches and letters, based his arguments for turning the Government over to the Democratic party Garrison's letter is unanswerable and Sumner avoids attempting to answer it For once he has met an antagonist whose heavy guns have pierced his egotism through and through This towering and hitherto impenetrable egotism to which Sumner's political eccentricities are mainly due, was admirably hit off recently by Congressman Schofield of Pennsylvania 'Sumner and Schofield has a grievous fault he is the greatest hater I ever knew He will go for a philanthropic theory, he will do all he can to elevate the colored people but he don't want anybody to contradict him He got mad at William Pitt Fessenden and wouldn't speak to him, or to Trumbull, or to Mr Wilson, his own colleague He won't speak now to Hannibal Hamlin one of the mildest and cleverest men I ever knew, simply because one time when he had made a long speech on one side of the question Hamlin said 'Am't you going to sing the Doxology' He don't speak to his own wife He met Secretary Fish at a dinner party, and, although Mr Fish spoke twice to him, thinking he had not heard him the first time, he paid no attention to him and it was because he wouldn't speak to the Secretary and a large number of his colleagues on the Foreign Committee the Senate refused to keep him on the committee. That was the matter with him"

The Herald wants to know why gold has risen 1½ dy It is believed by many that one of the causes is not altogether unconnected with the nomination of Greeley, whose financial policy is not considered the very wisest that could be suggested On this point an Eastern journal of recent date says:

Yesterday morning, when the news seemed to indicate Merriman's election, the New York stock market was depressed, and late in the day, when it was decisively claimed that a Democratic triumph had been achieved, values of all classes of railroad securities were sharply depressed Thus does Wall street, quick to detect the effect of elections as well as all sorts of political movements, rate it to the intelligence of a Greeley victory

We know now the falsity of these reports and while few persons of sound judgment deem Greeley's election possible, yet the mere fact of his candidacy has a more or less depressing effect on business and finances

Since the report of Dr Livingstone's safety have been accepted by the world at large the publishers are crazy to get hold of the manuscripts of his adventures to print in a book It is said that more than twenty of this class have sent him letters soliciting his patronage One enterprising individual had his letter lithographed, and sent copies of it to Kondokoro, Khartoum, Zanzibar, Magdala Sierra Leone, Cape Town Gambia Aden Simaulu and every other point which it was thought might be reached by the great explorer in his long seclusion The venerable explorer is fortunate in being where his world be persecuters will probably fail to reach him

If you belong to a wealthy family in the City of Mexico now a days and drive into the country a few miles from that capital you will be gobbled up by guerrillas who will send the cheering intelligence to your friends that they want two thousand dollars or perhaps, five thousand dollars, and if it is not forthcoming in so many hours you will be shot. The funeral over you a few days later when your body is found by the roadside, horribly mutilated, will be very impressive Mexico is a more healthy country for poor people just at the present time than the United States

In Delaware there is an insurrection even among the "regular' Democracy against Greeley. In the Democratic Convention at Dover on the 14th inst resolutions approving Greeley's candidacy, though in a guarded manner, were received with violent opposition, and after a boisterous wrangle were finally tabled An electoral ticket was nominated, but the Convention refused to instruct for Greeley. Great excitement prevailed throughout the proceedings, and the delegates after adjournment declared that Delaware would vote for Grant

Senator Sumner's fall is spoken of by the people of his State with the same regret with which they spoke of the fall of Daniel Webster, who bowed before the slave power for the sake of the Presidency A writer in the Boston Advertiser reviews Sumner's position and commends him to Whittier's dirge over the fall of Webster

"We'll pay the reverence of old days
To his dead fame
Walk backward with averted gaze
And hide the shame.

Prison Reform in the United States

Prisons are maintained for the punishment and suppression of crime Many of the inmates of all prisons are brutal and hardened offenders but it does not follow that the keeper of a prison should therefore be a man of brutal instincts and of practices to match For instance it is not necessary that he should be such a man as the present Superintendent of the Oregon Penitentiary Nor is it necessary that a prison should be conducted with an improvement on the methods in use here in 1857

All these matters just now being called to the prison system adopted among civilized nations by the meeting of an important international association in the city of London composed of persons specially interested in this subject The present movement has apparently been set on foot by thoughtful men and much good may be expected from the agitation The question in our own country is one of increasing importance and it is a hopeful sign that good men are discussing the issue now forced upon us in a scientific and sensible way guided by experience and accumulating facts unmoved by sentimentalism or false sympathy There is probably little danger of our erring on the side of severity in the treatment of criminals but we have much to learn and the opportunity for improvement is not wanting Neither are proofs needed but the subject is calling forth among us careful study similar to that displayed abroad

An article in the Methodist Church Review written upon the general question contains the following statistics which show the magnitude of the issue in the United States There are twenty two hundred prisons of different grades with an average number of sixty thousand prisoners in the country It is of interest to note that about one fourth of the criminals are uneducated, and only about one half are able to read and write Furthermore only one in six is a skilled workman Nothing can show more clearly how ignorance idleness and crime are closely united Those simple facts set forth at once the importance and the special characteristics of the problem At present in turning from the inhumanity associated with the prisons of the old world in past years, we have been in danger of allowing a false sentiment to carry us too far in the opposite direction It has been seen repeatedly in the change of public opinion towards criminals in danger of meeting extreme punishment, in the appeals for release from imprisonment made often successfully, to our Legislatures and in various other ways It is not improbable that public sentiment will in this particular in due time become more sensible without unseemly agitation Our laws have generally been more judicious and the penitentiary system avoiding undue severity or leniency has many admirable features Methods of classification, care for intellectual and religious wants and encouragement to good behavior in the hope of shortening terms of punishment find a place in most of our prisons Of late we have learned to regard punishment as a means of reformation no less than as a terror to evil doers On the other hand a desire to make institutions of the kind under consideration pay has prevailed in certain quarters Intelligence and humanity have not been regarded as of prime necessity in those having charge of criminals The choice of officials has been made a political consideration, or a matter of policy Upon the whole, however important advances have been made in this respect in the United States

Greeley's Last Speech

A few days ago the telegraph gave us an extract from a speech delivered by Horace Greeley at Portland, Maine Mr Greeley is the first candidate for President who ever took the stump in his own behalf His political harangues are inexcusable departures from honorable precedents which have been observed by all former candidates for the Presidency But let this pass A point in his Portland speech not reported to us by telegraph was a direct promise on his part to reward the Democratic leaders who support him with the offices within his gift On this feature of his speech the Sacramento Union makes these comments

Such a promise was never before made by any Presidential candidate and it is not a whit better than the offer of a bribe To be perfectly just and perfectly clear on this subject, he should next state whether he intends to divide the offices pro rata in proportion with the support he shall receive In that case we apprehend the Democrats will get all the Cabinet positions, all the important foreign appointments, and all the fat Postoffices and Collectorships while the corporal's guard of recalcitrant Republicans will be put off with the broken crumbs and minor offices

Greeley is one of the most consistently inconsistent men in the world He bases his main objection to the re election of Grant upon the theory that the President should hold for only one term He bases this upon another theory—that holding for only one term the President will not be tempted to use his official patronage to corrupt the people and gain their support and that this will secure a practical reformation in the civil service, which is and has been used too much for political purposes Yet, in the face of these honest protests he is the first of all the Presidential candidates to hold on the patronage of the Presidential office as a bribe to voters before the election and a direct temptation to the whole party to support him at the sacrifice of its own political principles If this speech don't increase the Republican majority in Maine we are much mistaken in the quality of that State's Republicanism

The Kentucky Election

An election of county officers was held in Kentucky on the 5th instant A dispatch to the New York Times states that in Louisville the contest was very spirited between the Republicans and anti Greeley men (who supported the Citizens ticket) and the Democrats and Reformers who supported the Greeley Democratic ticket The Courier Journal on the morning of the election spoke of the Citizens ticket as virtually a Radical ticket, and said We cannot afford to have it go abroad that the Democratic party has been beaten in the chief city of Kentucky The Ledger said that if the Citizens ticket was elected it would be heralded as a Radical victory, and in that event it would have a disheartening effect All of the Greeley organs advocated the Democratic ticket The response of the citizens to these appeals, however was not entirely satisfactory to the Democracy The entire Citizens ticket with one exception was elected by about 3,000 majority Payette county, the home of Congressman Beck elected the Republican ticket by about 600 majority a gain of 385 over Harlan's vote for Governor last year

It turns out that Banks wants to be Governor of Massachusetts and the Democrats it is said are willing to concede him the nomination The Liberal Republicans are likely to protest for they have a great contempt for the man If this programme should be carried out General Butler will come to the front and demand the Republican nomination As against Banks he would poll a large Democratic vote, for he is very popular with the Irish Americans, who hate Banks for his prominent connection with the Know Nothing party

VOLCANIC SYMPTOMS —A passenger from the Columbia informs us that a mountain [illegible] Astoria is known as 'Saddle Mountain' has recently discovered to give indications of internal fire About two weeks ago a party of several persons were out in the locality of the mountain [illegible] prompted by curiosity and a desire to obtain a good view of the surrounding country, set out to the summit Near the top several large fissures were found, from which at intervals issued steam and sulphurous gases Some large stones [illegible] before were so heated that they could not be touched Other indications were found which gave undeniable evidence of the proximity of great heat Several years ago a party ascended the mountain, but detected no volcanic symptoms This mountain is situated some distance from Astoria and owing to the saddle shaped formation of its summit is called "Saddle Mountain" A report brought back by the hunters has produced considerable interchange of opinions and conjectures among the people of that section

HOUSE ENTERED —The house of Coroner Dryer situated in the lower part of the city was entered on Sunday night by some unknown [illegible] and a small sum of money taken Returning to his bed, Mr. Dryer had left one of the front windows up for the purpose of ventilation Some time during the night, a member of the light fingered fraternity came in through the window and took from a purse in the pocket of a pantaloons the sum of $3 60 in currency After taking the small sum, the thief placed the purse in the rear pocket and departed The following morning when Mr Dryer arose he missed the burglars had been disturbed by some one More closely examining, he discovered that his purse which he had left in one of the pockets was changed to another On examining the purse he found nothing in it but one copper cent piece, which he has carried for years The thief seemed content to leave the piece of old coin to the possession of its owner and departed, taking away nothing else

BOLD PROCEEDINGS —While the family of Governor Gibbs was at church on [illegible] morning the premises were entered and a number of valuable articles stolen It was not discovered, on the return of the members, that the house had been entered by some person, from the appearance of things A search was instituted, and revealed in the discovery that two [illegible] watches (each valued at from $40 to $60) about twenty yards of silk some sheets and a few other articles had been taken The thieves had first sought to enter at the rear of the building through the basement, but meeting with more difficulty than was at first anticipated the effort was abandoned and an attempt made at the back door with more success The [illegible] was one of the boldest robberies that has yet been made in the city That a house in the heart of the city vacated but for a time should be entered ransacked and robbed in broad day light, shows a degree of recklessness during that but few of the light fingered gentry would care about displaying

SERIOUSLY PAINED —A man, whose name we did not ascertain while on his way to the Forest Grove ferry on Monday morning met with a severe accident Some distance beyond the B street bridge, while descending a little hill he stepped on a round pebble The stone suddenly turned and gave his foot a severe wrench to one side falling

CITY.

NAILING IT ON —We have upon various occasions in no measured terms denounced the reckless habitual carelessness which characterizes the drivers of the city We hazard the assertion that not one day passes over our heads but what the ordinance regulating the speed of teams is violated The ordinance places the maximum speed at the rate of six miles an hour Instead of observing themselves to this speed drivers of express wagons hotel omnibusses etc go careering through the crowded thoroughfares as if driving along a turnpike—generally traveling at a rate not far short of eight to twelve miles an hour Although a penalty for the inexcusable violation of one of the most important laws still the offence could be to a great extent avoided if drivers would exercise a greater amount of circumspection and be a little more cautious as to where they drive If we do not very greatly misinterpret the law the cross walk belongs to the pedestrian while he is crossing the street provided he is in advance of a team in which case it is the duty of the driver to regulate his speed so as to enable he foot man to reach the cross walk without increasing his gait The reverse is the case here A pedestrian—whether man woman or child—must accommodate his speed so as to suit the caprice of the driver taking the chance of running for dear life or being knocked down and run over Yesterday evening a young man was crossing Washington street at Front when one of the hotel carriages came down he street driving, of course at a furious gait The young man having his attention called to something else paid no heed to the team He had almost reached one of the horses when the horses and vehicle came crashing around the corner nearly striking the lamp post and knocking the young fellow backwards some distance One of the horses knocked him to his foot and the equine head dealt him a severe blow on the shoulder He was momentarily stunned but fortunately escaped very severe or fatal injuries The driver of his utter recklessness disregard for the rights of footmen, did not check his speed in the least or even sound a warning If this manner of driving is persevered in we shall be called upon one of these days to chronicle a serious or fatal accident, as a natural result of careless driving of which an account where one of these reckless Jehu gets treated to a "first class head" Be without pedestrians taking the matter in their own hands, a strong persistent appeal should be made to the existing law and its provisions rigidly enforced In no other manner can pedestrians obtain redress and be protected in their rights

VOLCANIC SYMPTOMS —A passenger from down the Columbia informs us that a mountain near Astoria known as Saddle Mountain has been discovered to give indications of internal fire About two weeks ago a party of several hunters were out in the locality of the mountain, and prompted by curiosity and a desire to obtain a good view of the surrounding country, ascended to the summit Near the top several large fissures were found from which at intervals issued steam and sulphurous gases Some large stones near by were so heated that they could not be touched Other indications were found which gave unmistakable evidence of the proximity of great heat Several years ago a party ascended the same mountain, but detected no volcanic symptoms This mountain is situated some distance from Astoria and owing to the saddle shaped formation of its summit is called "Saddle Mountain" The report brought back by the hunters has produced considerable in exchange of opinions and some excitement among the people of that section

HORSE STOLEN —The house of Coroner T J Dyer, situated in the lower part of the city, was entered on Sunday night by some unknown person, and a small sum of money taken Before retiring to his bed Mr Dryer had left one of his front windows up for the purpose of ventilation Some time during the night a member of the light fingered fraternity came in through the open window and took from a purse in the pocket of his pantaloons, the sum of $1 60 in currency After taking this small sum the thief placed the purse in the rear pocket and departed The following morning when Mr Dryer arose, he observed that his trowsers had been disturbed by some one. More closely examining, he discovered that his purse which he had left in one of his vests, had been changed to another On opening the purse, he found nothing in it but a lone copper cent piece, which he has carried for many years. The thief armed content to leave that piece of old coin to the possession of its owner would, instead of taking away nothing else

BOLD PROCEEDINGS —While the family of ex Gibbs was at church on Sunday morning, the premises were entered and a number of valuable articles stolen It was soon discovered, on the return of the members, that the house had been entered by some person, from the appearance of things A search was instituted at once, and resulted in the discovery that two valuable watches, (each valued at from $60 to $70) about twenty yards of silk, some sheets and a few other articles had been taken The thief or thieves had first sought to effect an entrance to the building through the basement but meeting with more difficulty than was at first anticipated, the effort was abandoned and an attempt made at the back door with more success The whole proceeding was one of the boldest robberies which has yet been made in the city That a building in the midst of the city vacated but for a short time, should be entered ransacked and robbed—all in broad daylight, shows a degree of reckless daring that buffles the light fingered craft would care about displaying

SCRAINED —A man, whose name we did not ascertain, while on his way to the Forest House, yesterday morning met with a severe accident Some distance beyond the B street bridge, while ascending a little hill he stepped on a small round pebble The stone suddenly turned over, and gave his foot a severe wrench to one side, resulting in a severe sprain to his ankle He was unable to proceed on his way, and was compelled to wait some time for a passing team to carry him back to the city

KEPT TOGETHER —On motion of U S District Attorney Gibbs yesterday morning, it was ordered by the Court that the jury in the case of the U S vs Frank Tompkins et al, charged with the robbery of the mail should not be allowed to separate during the trial, that they should be kept in charge of a special officer, and not allowed to hold conversation with any one but themselves until the matter be finally submitted to them for their verdict.

BACK THE CHASE —Messrs Quimby and Waddams returned yesterday from a several days' hunt in the vicinity of the Cascades These Mountains have been absent since last Thursday They report hunting good but trout rather scarce being a little too late for these fish A good measure of success attended their efforts in the chase, three large deer having fell before the unerring aim of their rifles One of these animals will probably weigh over 200 pounds

TO SUSPEND —We learn that the Good Templar published at Albany, and the organ of the Order in the State will cease after the next issue The contract for the publishing of the Templar will expire in a few weeks, and the Executive Committee deem it prudent to temporarily suspend the paper until further arrangements can be effected It is hoped to resume its publication at as early a day as practicable

GLASS BROKEN —One of the large glass plates in the front of the Masonic Temple was broken the other night either intentionally or by accident From the appearance of the glass it has been struck with a stone or a pointed piece of timber A hole is crushed through on one place and several large cracks extend across the plate so that it is ruined to all intents The loss is not much short of $100

COMPLETED —That portion of G street extending from North First to North Front across Couch's Lake has been completed at length It has been over a year since work was first commenced along this street A durable lasting roadway now crosses the lake which besides adding to the general appearance of that part of the city, will be a great accommodation to travel

EXCAVATION —The excavation for the basement of the new Central School House has been completed by Mr Perry Baker Over 3 000 cubic yards of earth have been removed The wooden frame is being raised and the work is progressing as rapidly as possible

EXCUSED —In the U S District Court yesterday morning N P Robinson and E Woodward were excused from further attendance on the term

TRIAL OF TOMPKINS BRAMLETTE HANSON AND WHITE IN THE UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT — PART I

On Monday the trial of the four persons above named came up in the United States Circuit Court and continued throughout the entire day eliciting much public attention and drawing to the court room a large number of spectators The entire forenoon was occupied in the selection of a jury, which finally resulted in the choice of the following gentlemen who were sworn and the court took a recess till 1 o'clock P M

TEST ONY

The afternoon was occupied in taking testimony of witnesses introduced in behalf of the prosecution The first witness called was I Thenhausen a merchant of Canyon City who testified that he had mailed gold dust of about the value of $8 000 on the 10 h or 11th of July, last

John McCullough also a merchant of the same place testified that he had mailed gold dust of near the value $764 on the same date

John Mauldrick was sworn and said And a member of the firm of Rhinehart & Co at Canyon City W V Rhinehart is the Postmaster and I have assisted in the Postoffice since the 1st of May last There was a mail sent from Canyon City on the morning of July 11th between 5 and 6 o'clock There were two mail sacks—one through and one way sack In the sack intended to go through to the Dalles there were ten registered letters, done up in four packages Of my own knowledge there was one containing $121 in currency I registered a package for John McCullough, addressed to Bachman Bros San Francisco and one for a Chinaman named Hook On Hong addressed to Tong Duck Chung Portland I assisted in registering the remainder of the packages—that is I put on the stamps One package was also brought by Henry Sels which I saw It was about a 36 ounce package Most of the packages of gold dust are in tins One of these I think was not McCullough's package, as also one brought by Hyde was about the same size—a 36 or 40 ounce package There was also the package of Messenger & Co, containing about the same number of ounces and some small logs sent by Chinamen There were also in the sack some registered letters—one to the Postmaster at Portland about the money order business, and one to James Steel, Cashier of the First National Bank These packages and letters were put in the sack, and I gave the sack to the stage driver His name is Edgar don't know his first name I understand he was also the contractor

Cross examined —I put the sacks close to where I slept in the store and delivered them to the mail carrier next morning between 5 and 6 o'clock The shipment of gold dust by the mail on that day was less than is usual from our office

Alfred Sutton the second witness, being sworn said I am a stock raiser keep the Postoffice at Bridge Creek, 35 miles west of where the alleged mail robbery is said to have been committed I heard of the mail robbery some four days after its occurrence The stage went down on Friday and I learned that the robbery took place the same day I saw nothing in the way mail as it passed my office but some letters I only handle the way mails On the day in question it contained perhaps between 30 and 50 letters I delivered the sacks to Ad Edgar, the driver He carries the mails on this day, he had a stage wagon and four horses The passengers were George Hunsely and another gentleman from Canyon City whom I know but cannot name, and a third man who was a stranger to me

On cross examination the witness said I keep the Postoffice and have some little things to sell The stage comes past my place about 10 o'clock A M

C N Thornbury—I reside at Camp Watson on July 12th was on my way to the Dalles from Camp Watson At half past 5 o clock I passed Antelope Canyon saw two persons at the head of the canyon north of the road One of them was armed with a gun of some kind Antelope Canyon is a deep hollow a mile or so long, very rocky with brush in some places The country around is a prairie, and comparatively level The first house toward Canyon City it Moppin's—one mile from the canyon The first house this way toward the Dalles is Ward's distant five miles from the canyon The canyon is over a mile long and in places the road is steep The mountains on either side are steep I heard of the robbery on the arrival of the stage at Ward's

Cross examined—By the head of the canyon, I mean the west end The men were standing about one hundred yards from the road on the side of the hill, near the top I could have seen another man had there been one within 30 or 40 yards of the other two On the 12th of July the country was very dry

Mary A Morrison—Was on board the stage July 12th, between Moppin's and Ward's We got aboard at Burnt Ranch—about 30 miles east of Burnt Ranch,—at about 12 o'clock and it must have been about sundown when we reached Antelope canyon There were on the stage Miss Franklin and Ad Edgar and two men whose names I afterwards learned were Fearing and Mr Kuisley, and a man called by the driver Jack" When we reached the canyon, two of the men, Knisley and "Jack were walking Edgar was driving slowly when the lead horses dodged from the right to the left At the same time I looked between Capt Fearing and the driver and saw three men on the side of the road One was a tall man and two were medium sized The one that stood next to the stage was a tall man There were two tall men and one medium sized One may said Mr Edgar we will not hurt you we only want the mail" Edgar asked them if they wanted his clothing They said no only the mail I took my boy behind the stage and the robbers said to Edgar You can drive on" He started on and I said to him to stop and let me and my boy get in He stopped and the robbers said "get in babies" The men were masked I saw the hair of one of them It was a dark red I have seen Bramlette one of the defendants, and the hair of the robber which I saw was just the color of his hair The cage had no top on it There was a prisoner brought to Mr Ward's while I was there and I heard three voices in an adjoining room One was Mr Ward's, another was the same voice I heard at the time of the robbery After the door was opened, I saw Ward, his hired man, and Frank Tompkins

Cross examined —I have no settled home but usually live where I teach I have no husband It was light when we reached the canyon I was on the middle seat Capt Fearing and the driver were on the front seat The front seat was as much as six inches higher than the others The road where we were was crooked When the horses first dodged we were going up the hill The men stood on the right hand side the tall man next the stage I did not see them before the stage stopped The horses stopped before I heard any voice I heard only one man speak at all The first word I understood was, 'Mr Edgar we will not hurt you we only want the mails One of the mounted men did all the talking When I first heard the talking I was not looking at them Edgar asked the man if he would have to get off The man said no only the mail I can see as far as I see of anything else I have went to I was on the wagon when the mail was thrown out Only one rang throw the mail I saw eight guns which they all had were rifles The masks were all dark colored The prisoners were brought to Mr Ward's one week after After we left the scene of the robbery we all talked of course but I neither said to Mr Edgar or Mr Knisely or any one that I was so badly scared that I couldn't have told who the robbers were if I had been over so well acquainted with them Mr Porter I was told came with Mr Tompkins to Mr Ward's They came in the morning

Lizzie Franklin another passenger on the stage at the time of the robbery was the next witness called by the prosecution, and testified to some of the facts stated by last witness She said We reached Antelope Canyon between five and six o'clock the sun was about half an hour high When we came to the canyon two men were walking and we were walking In about a minute after we got in the three men stepped out and told us to hold up our hands My Edgar said Hello oh my God Two of the men were round on the other side of the stage and one stood still As the stage passed the man on the side that stood still I saw freckles on his hands He had on a faded blue flannel shirt Mr Edgar asked them if they wanted his clothing The man with the blue flannel shirt had blue eyes Two of the men were six feet high and one was medium height The man of medium height did the talking Their faces were masked I saw the man's eyes when the mask slipped I know the prisoners but am best acquainted with Frank Tompkins have known him for six years and Bramlette for two years The others were just about the same height as the prisoners Three of the prisoners have got blue eyes Frank Tompkins corresponds with the man who did the talking at the robbing, and Bramlette with the man who had blue eyes When the stage stopped the robbers had guns in their hands They were pointing the guns at us They were first at the right, and went over to the left I was at Ward's when the prisoners were brought there Tompkins was brought first He was there all night before the others came I heard the prisoners talk at Ward's and recognized Tompkins voice The voice was the same as at the robbery I had heard Tompkins talk at various places before the robbery

Cross examined—The sun was down when we reached the canyon Before they told us to throw up our hands I had hold of Mr Edgar by my arms around him I was sitting and my face at his side I had heard Frank Tompkins talk an hour or so at my grandpa Ward's before I came to the conclusion that it was the voice I had heard at the robbery I had been informed for what he was arrested in three or four minutes after he got there

J B Underwood was called to prove the genuineness of a letter the writing where the mail was robbed robbery was committed

After which the Court adjourned until 10 A M today

CASE OF SUPPOSED POISONING —Drs Davenport and Temple were called last evening to attend on Mrs Carol near Terry who it was supposed had taken poison I was very difficult to determine from the symptoms whether the sickness was caused by a poisonous drug or some other cause As she has before made attempts to destroy herself it is quite probable that the sickness is the result of poison self administered When first called the physicians thought she was dying, but she soon after rallied and appeared to grow better At a late hour last night she was very low with but little hopes of recovery

FENCE CHANGED —By instructions from Chief Lappeus an alteration has been made to the high fence enclosing that portion of the city jail building immediately at the corner of Second and Oak streets The building stands some ten or twelve feet from the inner edge of the sidewalk, and has heretofore been enclosed with a portion of the jail fence The fence has been taken away and now joins the building at the south east corner The space between the sidewalk and of the jail and foot of the stairs leading up to the first story will be planked The general effect of the front view of the building is greatly enhanced by the removal of this portion of the fence

Gathering "Lorls"

[From the New Orleans Republican.]

Col. Jack W—— tells a good story of a sergeant of his own regiment, the —th Texas cavalry, which occurred during the late unpleasantness. Sergeant Wiley was a lank, gawky, but impulsive son of the Lone Star State, worthless as a soldier, and still worse as a non-commissioned officer, he nevertheless was enabled to maintain his grade, owing to a peculiar tact which he possessed of procuring forage when all the others would fail. One wet morning he appeared with a long face before his Colonel's tent and grumbled something against the Sergeant-major of the regiment, which Col W—— finally understood to be a complaint that Wiley had been put on picket duty out of his turn The story seemed so plausible when clearly placed before the Colonel, that the Sergeant-major was summoned to the tent, and in a few minutes it was agreed that an unintentional injustice had been done to Wiley, and the party separated.

"Never mind, Wiley," said the Sergeant-major, as they walked off together, "when your turn comes again you shall be exempted from duty."

"That's well enough," grumbled Wiley, "but it mayn't be a wet night."

"That does matter, Wiley," again said the Sergeant-major. "When the war is over, this little trial will be counted as another laurel for you."

Wiley left his superior, and for half an hour was noticed wandering about alone, muttering something unintelligible. At last Wiley made for night for the Colonel's tent, and without preliminary apostrophized him in a twangy voice:

"Kernel," he said, "what's a lorl?"

"A what?" asked Col. W——.

"A lorl?" again asked Wiley, in a louder tone.

"A what?"

"What's a lorl?" this time fairly shrieked Wiley.

Col. W—— was now nearly out of patience, being as little informed as before on the lorl subject.

"Wiley," said the Colonel, "if you will only tell me who uttered that word in your [illegible] and under what circumstances it was [illegible] if you will tell me something that [illegible] or after it was uttered, I may be able to enlighten you.

Wiley then [illegible]d how it was that the [illegible]ajor had spoke of laurels.

"Oh," said Col. W——, "I understand! Well, you see, Wiley, when the ancient Romans [illegible] triumphant from the wars their [illegible] were crowned with leaves of [illegible] were synonymous of glory."

Wiley then slyly crept away, apparently understanding the situation less than ever. In due course of time, one dark, cold, rainy night, while Wiley was mooning vigorously, he was awakened from his sleep, and ordered to go on picket duty with a squad of men. In a few minutes he had hitched up his clothes, and pushing out of his tent, he yelled out for Wiley to his men: "Come on boys, we are going after some of the d—— lorls!"

American Soda-Water.

[From Harper's Magazine for August.]

Soda-water was first made about 70 years ago. The credit of the invention is said to be due to Anwin Thwaites, of Dublin.

The manufacture of soda-water, and the methods of drawing it, have been vastly improved during the past ten or fifteen years. In some departments of inventive taste and skill have greater strides been made toward perfection during the period named. American ingenuity seems to deserve the credit of having the van in this march of improvement, foreseen the French, with all their skill in the delicious and gastronomic, leaving nothing new about drinkables when some enterprising Yankees set up an "American bar" at the great Exposition of 1867. The "soude Americaine a la creme glacee" was a novelty to the Parisians and [illegible] and met with a hearty welcome from all.

A Paris paper [illegible] the "great success in the potable line," said:

"It is really one of the curiosities of the Exposition to watch the representatives of every nation on the face of the globe as they make a first trial of the new beverage. The result is so great that they are formed in line by the police, and, first securing checks, take [illegible] In one day, [illegible] the possession of the parties in charge. The contrast [illegible] the soda as served in the American style and the sour service of the French cafe is so [illegible] to make the permanent introduction of the former a certainty."

The [illegible] Arabs of the old style of apparatus are, of course, loud in their denunciations of the new. They say that the gas never fully parts with the sulphuric acid it brings over in the [illegible]tor unless it be allowed to [illegible] in a "rising bell," as in their machines to the bottom of their objections would be to [illegible]; but whether valid or not, the new arrangement, being so much [illegible] than the old, continues to win [illegible] as well as at home. We find from [illegible] of the catalogue of a promi[illegible] that the American soda [illegible] is now in use not only in Europe, but has found its way to far-off Australia, and even to Cu[illegible]

Wheat in Liverpool, 10s, 4d.

The bark Edward Lycett, which left at this port from Portland on last Friday evening brings the following [illegible]: 19,078 bags rice; [illegible] pkgs general merchandise; [illegible] bags sugar, 142 bales matting; [illegible] bags beans; 60 pkgs salt fish; 12 pkgs [illegible]

The [illegible] California, for Victoria and Puget Sound, cleared away the following freight: 1 separator; 4 fanning mills, 6 horse power; 2 horse planes; 1 keg butter, 2,266 sacks flour; 75 bbls flour; 185 sacks wheat; 36 sacks bran; 60 sacks middlings; 60 sacks rice; 70 boxes soap; 3 pkgs sashes; 18 pkgs boots; 2 cheese; 20 sacks Graham [illegible]Flour; 1 chest tea; 18 sacks meal.

The low rates of freight from the Pacific Coast to Liverpool continue exceedingly strong with rates decidedly in favor. In 1866 the rates paid for Wheat from San Francisco and Puget Sound were from £2 10s to £3. In 1869 [illegible] were obtained for £1 17s 6d This year [illegible] are 2d to 2d 1½d. This is owing to the scarcity of tonnage and the [illegible] to sell Wheat. On this point a San Francisco paper remarks: "But the supply of [illegible] will be governed by the number of vessels loading and [illegible] for this port, may be expected to increase as the season advances, while on the other hand, wheat [illegible] may be confidently be expected to decline largely after October. Means of [illegible] tonnage may be expected by November or December, at which date coal and other outside charters will again become the chief feature. The conclusion, of course, to be drawn is that a [illegible] in rates after a few months is extremely probable, and holding that view, some of our farmers have [illegible] to keep their Wheat for the present."

No fact in [illegible] and trade has been more remarkable than the advance in prices of all kinds of metals during the past year. The Financier collates the following ruling prices of different [illegible] and manufactured goods in England, from the Birmingham journals:

The advance in the prices of Coal and Iron in Great Britain, has attracted great attention in that country, and statements are published showing how much the cost of [illegible] from these important minerals has [illegible] within the last twelve months. Coal, the raw material in the production of Iron, has advanced from 70 to 100 per cent. in a year. It is feared that next winter Coals in London will bring $10 50 a ton. Between June, 1871, and July, 1872, Pig Iron has advanced from $15 to $26 per ton, or 61 per cent. Bar Iron has increased 41 per cent., Iron Rails 54 per cent., Iron Chains 62½ per cent., and Steel Rails 105½ per cent.

The Birmingham journals give a list of articles, including Hardware and Brass and Copper goods, which have [illegible]n in price during the last nine months. The principal articles with their increases are as follows: Copper, 55 ₩ cent.; copper sheets, 50 ₩ cent.; tin plates, 45 ₩ cent.; lead in sheets, 50 ₩ cent.; spelter, 41 ₩ cent.; regulus of [illegible]ony used in making Britannia metal, 67 ₩ cent.; brass, 66 ₩ cent.; iron gas tubes, 117 ₩ cent.; galvanized [illegible]ware, 42 ₩ cent.; chains, 53 ₩ cent.; wrought nails, 50 ₩ cent., cut nails, 90 ₩ cent.; cast iron wall and hath nails, 44 ₩ cent.; hying pans, 67 ₩ cent.; cut tacks, 80 ₩ cent.; brass tacks and wire, 44 ₩ cent.; and copper wire, 43 ₩ cent. The cost of building in Great Britain has, within the last 18 months, [illegible]ased 50 ₩ cent. during the same period the average cost of machinery has [illegible]ased 4 50 ₩ cent.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

ADOPTED BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, IN CONVENTION AT PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 5TH, 1872.

The Republican Party of the United States assembled in National Convention in the city of Philadelphia, on the fifth and sixth days of June 1872 announces its principles and submits its claims to the intelligent judgment of the people before the country.

1 During the three years of its ascendancy it has carried with grand results the supreme duties of the time. It suppressed a gigantic rebellion, emancipated four millions of slaves, secured the equal citizenship of all, established universal suffrage. Abolishing unparalleled magnanimity, it criminally punished no man for political offences, and it has warmly welcomed and protected the rights of citizens, of foreign birth and dealing justly with their religion. It has steadily advanced toward the Pacific, developed and fostered vast enterprises from which generously aided and successfully individual effort has been largely excluded, and conferred the right of naturalized citizens secured from European powers.

2 In the form of National currency it has provided for a National debt created in the war, and has paid more than one hundred millions of the principal of that debt, with unexampled promptness, and has commenced the payment of the interest, with a reduction of more than one hundred millions of the principal, and a reduction of the annual interest charged upon it of more than twenty millions of dollars, and has thereby relieved the industry of the people to the same extent. The resources which have been carefully collected and honestly applied by the present Administration, have not only defrayed the ordinary expenses of the National Government, but have paid off nearly one hundred millions of the public debt, and have reduced the rate of interest upon the remainder from six to five per cent. Under the administration of President Grant's predecessor, at the rate of $100 000,000 per year, a financial crisis has been averted, and peace and prosperity prevail throughout the land. Menacing foreign difficulties have been peacefully and honorably composed, and the honor and power of the Nation kept in the highest position throughout the world. This glorious record of the past is the party's best pledge for the future and we believe that the people will not entrust the government to any party or combination of men, composed of those who chiefly have resisted every step in this beneficial progress.

3 Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil, political and public rights should be established and firmly maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate State and Federal legislation. No less law nor less administration should suffice in respect to citizens by reason of race, creed, color or previous condition of servitude.

4 The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained because they are right, not merely tolerated because they are law, and should be carried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation. The enforcement of the recent laws, passed to carry into effect the recent amendments, is universally demanded by the people and should be secured by the full and exact execution of their provisions.

5 The National Government needs to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere, and sympathizing with all peoples who strive for greater liberty

6 Any system of civil service under which the subordinate positions of the Government are considered rewards for mere party zeal, is fatally demoralizing, and we therefore favor a reform of the system, by a law which shall abolish the evils of patronage and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity the essential qualifications for public position, without practically creating a lifetime tenure of office.

6. We are opposed to further grants of public lands to corporations and monopolists, and demand that the National domain be set apart for free settlement to the people

7 The annual revenue, after paying current debts, should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal of the public debts, and except as much as may be derived from a tax on tobacco and liquors, be raised by duties on importations, which should be adjusted to aid in securing remunerative wages to laborers, and to promote the industries and growth and prosperity of the whole country.

8 We hold in undying
